

February 21, 2011

Parents, teens team up for beach clean up

February 21, 2011 | By ocregister

The National Charity League and Greater Orange Service League recently hosted a joint Beach Clean-up Day at Newport Beach.

More than 60 volunteers from both groups participated in the two-hour event, which was followed by games and S'mores eating.

Participants collected about 70 bags of trash, containing items ranging from prescription eye glasses to a urinal bag.

Both mother/daughter and mother/son organizations are committed to community service, leadership and cultural experiences.

For more information on the groups, visit nationalcharityleague.org and greaterorangeserviceleague.com.

